THE TOBACCO TAX.

toms and Internal Rev-

HON. W. C. WHITTHORNE, the House of Representatives

The bill (H. R. No. 3572) to amend existing customs and internal revenue laws, and for other purposes, being under consideration, Mr. Whitthorne said: Mr. Chairman, the honorable chairman of the Committee were few, slight, and immaterial, and so far as the amount of revenue to be derived therefrom was concerned, its sum was nothing. So, then, the sinking fund piedge of the Government is to remain disnored; the demand of the country for relief is to be ignored, and doubt, uncertainty, and distress are to rest upon the indus-tries of the people, at least until another election shall determine for the guidance of this committee in what quarter sits the wind. Sir, is it possible that the Committee on Ways and Means can discover no relief? Have they no policy to submit to the counhonored and the country bankrupted under a "Micawber" policy? Is it not cruel mockery that they should bid us "wait for omething to turn upper Sir, ought not the committee to recog nize the fact that the country is wearied of class legislation, is sick of favoritism and sectionalism in your tariff, and at once ad-dress themselves to the task of relieving the people of the payment of bounties and pensions to those who have for long years enjoyed them under the name of protection? But it is urged that our public debt must taxes derived from the people. lebt is an admitted charge upon the life of the nation. It is not all, I submit, upon railway traveling by steam, patented his engine, and applied it to mills.

of it. What is that equitable part? I an-answer, just that proportion of our surplus the inheritance we leave to our successors. Your taxes are high, because you would foster, enrich and protect by "bounties and pensions," as the gentleman from Hinois of the country. If you would reverse this and do equal justice to all, you would remodel your tariff, collect your taxes simply in the nterest of revenue, and just that amount nioy the protecting smile of the Govern-ment he is punished with the weight of its forced by agencies expensive, unusual and corrupting, and you will concur with me that its repeal is demanded alike by justice and sound policy.

But, sir, if the magnitude et your debt and the necessary cost of the adminis-tration of the Go erament will not enable tration of the Go ermneat will not emble you to dispense with this adjous tax, then I have respectfully to insist that you relieve it of its oppressive and vexatious features. In its collection proceed upon the idea of honesty among the people, and follow regulatious and agencies to which they have been accustomed. Do away with sples, informers and detectives, and the support these agencies derive from spics, informers and detectives, and the support these agencies derive from force. Adopt the license system entirely, and let each person engaged in the trade report the amount either of sales or of capital employed, and grade your tax upon that. Following this idea, which I have not either time or opportunity to elaboriae, you can dispense with an army of office-holders, you will che agent be cost of calsolders; you will cheapen the cost of col section and make the payment easier an more acceptable in manner to the tax-

A very large number of persons who raise tobacco, less than $100 in value, are cut of from payment of rest in kind, the adjustment of their accounts for family supplies, and exchange for the mecessaries of life, because they live accounts for family supplies. use they live remote from licensed de ers to whom alone they can barter or sel Were I to recite the details of the enforce ment of the penalties for a violation of the laws in this respect, its cruelty and har ship would account for the disfavor wit which the peop'e, especially the poor, re-gard this law and the carnestness with which they demand its repeal. Will the Committee on Ways and Means give the attention to this complaint? It can remedied without materially affecting revenue. In fact, the revenue may be increased by reducing the amount of licer

The small retail dealers in tebacco are under operation of the existing law, dri from the trade, and the use of tobacco seems to have been framed with the vie of favoring the large dealers and in the ir terest of manufacturers at the expense ould commend to the consideration of th committee the wisdom of the rule of tax tion already quoted, "that lexation ought t be levied at the time and in the manner which it is most likely to be convenient f the contributor to pay it." If, then, I re-peat, the condition of the finances will no admit a total repeal of this law, and the supply of any deficiency likely to arise from such repeal from the sources I have named, modify your internal revenue laws in the interest of revenue and not in the interest of classes; popularize the methods the cost of its collection, and you enabled to receive more in any ates than you now impose.

When you come to regard the imme mount of taxation paid annually by the people of the United States for the support of their national, State, and local govern ment, amounting in round numbers $700,000,00 | per annum, and to realize th that taxation is the abstraction of the capi-tal of the country, and that every interest in the country is being prostrated in this abstraction of capital, it seems most strange that the Committee on Ways and Means should hesitate in recommending a line of policy which would relieve the industries and labor of the country from the weight, and hypridens of protestion and alone besides. tion, and under which these industries and this labor are coerced into the payment of millions to foster and enrich the favored attention of the House to the consideration of the present bill, authoritatively said, in substance, that the changes made and proposed in the existing tanif laws by his committee were few, slight, and immaterial, and so far as the amount of revenue to be derived therefrom was concerned, its sum was nothing. So then the proposed in the people demand emancipation from these oppressions. They demand freedom and so far as the amount of revenue to be derived therefrom was concerned, its sum under which they labor, growing out of your currency laws, and you will have solved the problem of cheap transportation.

And again, upward and onward will be the progress of American commerce, American industry and American institutions.

A CORRESPONDENT of the Philadelphia Ledger claims for Oliver Evans, an American, the honor generally given to Robert Stevenson, the English engineer, of having invented the tubular system of steam boilers. He chains that Oliver Evans' engine is the only one adapted to steam traveling, and that the railway system of the present day is merely the execution of Oliver Evans' plan. In 1830 the Mechanics' Magazine, published in London, acknowledged the claim of Evans. In 1799, says the American Historical Re-1799, says the American Historical Record, Evans constructed a steam carriage, and it was the first steam engine constructed on the high-pressure prin-ciple. He proposed to run his steam carriage on level railways, but not finding sufficient encouragement among his countrymen, he abandoned the idea of
